To enhance Chinese companies' awareness of corporate governance, credit rating and research companies are planning to launch China Corporate Governance Index in the future.

China's corporate governance level is currently under international attention. RepuTex, Australia's well-known investment research company, announced in August 2007 that it will issue the first China Corporate Governance Index in Hong Kong in September. According to Head of RepuTex's research team, Hugh Grossman, corporate governance level of China's listed enterprises in Hong Kong has notably improved and has gradually been geared to international standards. This is a positive sign. In the beginning, RepuTex's China Corporate Governance Index consists of 29 constituent mainland Chinese companies.
